

We are looking for a:

Acquisition Commissioner (Executive Board)

About the vacancy:

You will be our first ever Acquisition Manager at the JASON Institute! This is very exciting, since you will lay the foundations for the acquisition managers to follow. As our Acquisition Commissioner you may not have the most visible position within our board, but you will carry out an essential task since you will be tasked with generating funds and sponsors for our organization. You will have a big responsibility, but also many opportunities to bring your own ideas and plans to the table. Therefore, we are looking for a highly motivated person who dreams big and is willing to take on this challenging but intriguing task!

What will you do?

- Your main job is to reach out to companies, organisations and institutions and convince them to financially support JASON Institute and our events.
- You will be responsible for the communication between our current (and future) sponsoring partners.
- You will attend board meetings. These can be board meetings with your fellow board members for the Executive Board and with members from the General and Advisory Board.
- You will be appointed as our first acquisition commissioner for at least one year (4 to 6 hours per week).

Who are you?

- A motivated, enthusiastic person who is not afraid to pick up the phone and reach out to companies, organisations and institutions.
- A real team player who actively contributes in board meetings but who can also work independently.
- A proactive go-getter. You are not waiting for others to come to you, but you are the one making the first step.
- Experience with this or similar employment works to your advantage.
- You are passionate about international security and excited about contributing to our work in this area.

What do we offer?

- The opportunity to develop your leadership and organisational skills.
- A valuable boost to both your CV and your network.
- Networking opportunities with professionals in the field of security and JASON alumni, as well as monthly borrels/get-togethers, and attendance at events related to our field of interest
- Be a part of an organization made up of students and young professionals with common interests in the fields of peace and security

Who are we?

For over 45 years, the JASON Institute for Peace and Security Studies has been engaged in informing students and young professionals on matters of international peace and security. JASON regularly organises exclusive events with leading security stakeholders. Additionally, we publish our own quarterly magazine containing sophisticated articles written by both young professionals as well as prominent academics.

What characterises JASON is that our events and magazines are accessible free-of-charge and are open to anyone interested in the field of security and peace. We believe that through an inclusive dialogue we can provide the leaders of tomorrow with a dynamic platform to engage with the leaders of today

Please visit our website or contact us via social media for more information on the JASON Institute. Please contact Max Garcia Hoogland (voorzitter@stichtingjason.nl) if you have any specific queries regarding this position. Are you interested in applying for a position? Send your motivation letter and curriculum vitae to the above-mentioned email address by January 1.